A Good Beginning

"Dick," said his aunt, "I think you are making a mistake in not marrying Jenny now. Start in with what you have and it will grow."

Dick Laramore was very much impressed with his aunt's advice. He talked with Jenny about it, and they agreed that they would make a beginning at once. Together they could raise $75, and they knew of a cottage they could get for $20 a month. They fixed a date for their wedding and began to hunt for furniture that they could pick up at small cost.

One day Dick heard of an auction sale of household goods that was to take place in a neighboring village and concluded to go over and see if he could get anything that would help him and Jenny at their housekeeping. He bought a dining table for $4 and a sideboard for $6. Among other things put up for sale was a basket full of shells, eggs and other oddities. Dick had always taken great interest in curious things and had quite a collection of old dirt knives, bits of uncommon metals, shells and other articles. There were two large eggs in the basket he saw at the auction that excited his curiosity. He had never seen eggs of that size or shape. He forgot for the time being that he needed furniture and began to bid on the basket of curios. An old woman seemed to cover them and bid against him till she had raised her offer to $7. Dick bid $7.25, and the basket was knocked down to him.

That brought him to his senses. He had invested about one-tenth of all he had to spend for furniture in a basket of worthless trinkets. He was not disgusted with himself that he left the auction and drove home.

The boldest thing he had ever thus far done was facing Jenny, showing her, among his purchases, the basket of knickknacks.

"Why, Dick," she exclaimed when she saw the latter.

"They'll make a nice ornament for our sitting room," said the girl, seeing by Dick's rueful appearance that he regretted his purchase as much as she.

RUMORS FROM BALLINGER WILL STAY

Report That He Indorses Taft Administration Denies Report Circulated in Washington

THE PRESIDENT, HOWEVER, UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES

Has Not Received Communication—Story Said Colonel Wouldn't Be Candidate. Also That He Favored Loeb for Governor of New York.

Washington, May 3.—In letters Theodore Roosevelt is alleged to have written to President Taft, Secretary Root and William Loeb, Jr., it is said by the Washington Post, the former president thoroughly endorses the Taft administration, favors Mr. Loeb to succeed Governor Hughes of New York and indicates that his decision to remain in private life is final and unalterable. The colonel will not even be a candidate to succeed Chamberlain M. Depew in the Senate and much less would he desire any other office.

It is also said the former president will in no sense be a candidate or the presidency in 1912. On the contrary, his letters purport to indicate that it is his conviction that the re-election of President Taft is the Republican party's duty. While Colonel Roosevelt thinks that a fight within the party, even if it is confined to opinions on legislation, may be helpful, he does not favor a degree of insurgency that threatens to disrupt the party at the polls and will probably deliver some speeches in the congressional campaign in the West urging the return of Republicans to Congress.

When Colonel Roosevelt speaks before the national conservation congress in St. Paul in September, it is said, he will declare himself again for the policies for which he has always stood, but will insist that the work be pressed forward without making conservation a pivot for political expedients.

In a word, former President Roosevelt, before seeing Gifford Pinchot in Europe and after, has expressed himself as convinced that President Taft has been working hard and conscientiously to carry out the policies which were started during the Roosevelt administration and has given to the Taft administration his whole approval. It was impossible to find a single person who would admit having received from Mr. Roosevelt any communication on the subject of politics or of his own plans for the future. Those who are known to have been intimate in correspondence with the ex-president made little secret of their skepticism as to his having communicated on these subjects with anybody.

TO GET WICKERSHAM LETTER.

Resolution for This Purpose Introduced in the House.

Washington, May 3.—Congress will be able to determine whether Attorney General Wickersham antedated his opinion on the Glavin charges against Secretary Ballinger, if the House passes a resolution introduced yesterday by Representative Harrison (Dem.) of New York. Mr. Harrison's resolution directs the attorney general to furnish to the House the exact information which the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee by a vote of 7 to 5 refused to call for. He introduced the resolution after a conference with Representative Graham of Illinois, one of the Democratic members of the committee. Mr. Graham suggested a few technical changes in the phraseology and then said that the resolution had his endorsement.

"I presented this opinion," said Mr. Harrison, "because the Republican members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee denied the committee and the public the right to this information. In doing so they also denied the House the same information. I think we should have all of the facts in this matter, and do not approve of any evident attempt to conceal something. If there is nothing to conceal, then let the administration produce this information. If there is something they want hidden, it is our business to see that it is not accomplished."

The resolution was referred to the rules committee.

LOEB SMILED.

Clear That He Is Ignorant Concerning Roosevelt's Plans.

New York, May 3.—William Loeb, Jr., merely smiled when he was asked about the letters Theodore Roosevelt is said to have written to President Taft, Senator Root and himself. He was unwilling to say anything for publication, but he made it clear to his friends that he knew nothing of the letters or any plans of Mr. Roosevelt involving his own political future.

He expressed the opinion that in such a matter would have been consulted before any gubernatorial boom was started for him.

FAKE MATRIMONIAL SCHEME.

Missouri Farmer and His Daughter Held for Federal Grand Jury.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 3.—J. A. Campbell, a wealthy farmer of Morgan county, and his daughter, Mabel Addison, were held for the federal grand jury here to answer a charge of conducting a fraudulent matrimonial scheme. Search of Mrs. Addison's rooms by post office inspectors brought to light more than 400 letters from men in all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. Several of the letters contained sums of money ranging from $5 to $50 for a wedding outfit.

Campbell inserted an advertisement in a matrimonial paper about six months ago giving the name of "Nora Johnson," who was supposed to be a seventeen years old, an orphan, and heiress to $17,000 in a year.

SEC. MAC VEAGH GOES INTO CONSERVATION

That Is, to Conserve Some of His Own Strength in Doing His Day's Work at the Capital.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, whose health recently threatened to break down, has taken steps to "conserve his natural resources" and put into effect a new program for the day's work which he expects will relieve him of considerable strain.

The room for the use of his secretaries is almost as large and artistically furnished as his own. There is a private reception room and private elevator. The next step in the secretary's policy was only taken this week. It was the issue of an order that the department would be positively closed to all outside visitors at 4:30 o'clock each afternoon. After that hour no one—not even a senator or member of Congress—will have access to the secretary or his assistants.

By enforcing this new order, the secretary expects to dispense with this necessity, and to obtain some time when he may consult with his chiefs and dispose of his own voluminous mail undisturbed.

A barb-wire fence with which to keep out the Mexican cattle is the queer expedient for which the bureau of animal industry is trying to secure congressional permission.

The fence needn't be made of a mesh small enough to keep out the insects. But there must be a barrier to keep the tick-infested Mexican cattle off of Uncle Sam's territory. Otherwise, the American cattle-grower finds his herds full of the pest.

The bureau has asked Congress to grant an appropriation to do the fencing along the international border line, wherever natural conditions do not constitute an impassable barrier for cattle.

A parcels post at first, if not for all time, limited to packages originating in rural routes and destined for rural routes was advocated before the House committee on post offices and post roads by representatives of the merchants' association of New York.

Marcus M. Marks, president of the association, favored limiting the parcels post to rural communities, because he feared that to extend it to cities would allow the large mail order houses to gain a monopoly on rural business and thus threaten the welfare of the country store, which he considered essential to the growth of the village. He said also that the government had better go slow

DEWEY MEETS FIGHTERS.

Entertains Officers Who Fought With Him at Battle of Manila.

Washington, May 3.—Admiral George Dewey followed his usual custom by entertaining at dinner Sunday night, at the Raleigh hotel the officers who served under him in the battle of Manila May 12 years ago. Covers were laid for 25 guests.

Admiral Dewey is hale and hearty. He was 72 years old on Dec. 26, last. He is at his office every day attending to his duties as president of the general board of the navy.

"There were proof that a single salmon over returned to the stream where it was hatched," challenged Judge Wickersham, the delegate from Alaska.

Mr. Everman said he thought it had been proven by the experience of the government in restoring a supply of salmon to the Sacramento river, but Wickersham was not convinced. The doctor, by request, also enlightened the committee by the statement that a fish is an "animal."
